ABOUT ME

Full-stack web developer with expertise in PHP, JavaScript, Vue.js, Nuxt.js, and Laravel. Experienced in building and deploying scalable web applications, designing efficient databases, and implementing RESTful APIs. Strong problem-solving skills and ability to manage both front-end and back-end development. Comfortable working with cloud infrastructure and DevOps tools. Over a decade of experience, with a background in managing large-scale projects, building multi-tenant platforms, and integrating advanced third-party services. Skilled in team management and product development, successfully leading and mentoring developers. For the past several years, I have worked two full-time shifts—managing and developing Fantazio during the day and dedicating my nights to my programming career. While this dual commitment has allowed me to build multiple successful projects, it has also been exhausting. I am now seeking a dedicated day job as a programmer to focus my skills and expertise in a structured environment.
